I'm wondering how to make the text wrap within the JScrollPane. I would like the text to wrap as it becomes to large. The idea is that I want the text to remain on one line until the JScrollPane is completely full and then the next line of text should appear. The screenshot below shows what the JScrollPane looks like, with some text on it. The first line of text should be visible and then the second line should wrap around and continue. A: Define the scroll pane. JTextPane textPane = new JTextPane(); textPane.setPreferredSize( new Dimension( 500,500 ) ); scrollPane.setViewportView(textPane); A: You can use scrollPane.getVerticalScrollBar().setAlwaysShows(); to show the vertical scroll bar always. Q: SQL Query for sum of month I have data like this USERID MONTH AMOUNT 1 01-01-2014 25 1 02-01-2014 30 1 03-01-2014 25 1 01-02-2014 20 1 01-03-2014 20 1 02-02-2014 25 I want to make a query where it should display like this USERID MONTH SUM 1 01-01-2014 55 1 02-01-2014 50 1 03-01-2014 45 1
