The best forex brokers in the industry Which are the best forex brokers in the industry? First of all, you need to know that there is no one answer to the question, 'which are the best forex brokers in the industry?' There are many factors to take into consideration when choosing a broker and, to add to the confusion, brokers seem to change rapidly. There is a vast choice of forex brokers available and with good reason too. There is no one approach to investing in FX and the forex market offers a never-ending array of opportunities for those who want to take their first steps in the world of trading. The choice, and therefore the experience, is huge, but what can you expect from your forex broker? The answer to that question is something of a complicated and lengthy story, but the following sections will try to bring some clarity to the matter. Do I need a broker? Before you start reading this article, let's deal with the question that most people want to know the answer to, 'Do I need a broker?' The answer is a very clear 'yes'. If you want to trade FX, then you need to have an account with a forex broker. If you have a broker account then the question is not one of necessity, but of choosing the best broker. In order to choose a broker, you need to ask yourself some key questions. What is the minimum deposit I can make with the broker? Do I want to trade with leverage? What trading software do I want to use? What country of residence will I be in? It is not unusual to see traders who say they want to open an account with a broker, but after they have found their broker they simply do not use it and wind up with the same money invested in the same market, or worse. This is because they did not choose the right broker and they were not given enough options when they chose the broker. The question is then whether or not you want to use a forex broker and if so, what broker should you choose? Choosing the best broker The world of forex trading is growing at an incredible pace.
